The Eves story is rooted in a rich tradition of excellence and quality and has a remarkable history in the world of sausage craftsmanship. Beginning with Karl Götzinger's culinary journey in Vienna, their commitment to crafting delectable sausages became a legacy. Generations carried on this tradition - Stephan Götzinger's venture into Australia and the creation of Götzinger Smallgoods in 1988 exemplify their unwavering dedication to quality and culinary artistry. After selling the Gotzinger business, Stephan and his wife Alanna opened a new smallgoods business; Eve Smallgoods. They continue the family tradition of quality craftsmanship using superior ingredients; providing products to delicatessens, catering companies, airlines, and the hospitality industry Australia-wide.

The Boks family originated in Holland where they were butchers and smallgoods makers. In 1951 Johannes Franciscus Andreas Boks emigrated from Holland to Australia with his son Johannes Franciscus Maria Boks. They found their way to Tasmania and settled in Cygnet in the Huon Valley in the far south. They opened a butchery and there started the legacy of Boks Bacon. The traditional Dutch recipes handed down from generation to generation and brought to Tasmania quickly developed a cult following for their wonderful smoky flavours.

PEPE SAYA BUTTERY

Pepe Saya Buttery was started in 2010, with the dream of making a beautiful tasting Australian cultured butter and creating a shift towards using local butter.

The difference in Pepe Saya butter in the process it goes through to make it.

The butter is beurre de baratte (butter of the churn) - it is batch churned from single origin cream, creating a natural and less processed product.

When the cream arrives from the farms to the creamery in Caringbah the cream is heated up and inoculated with a lactobacillus culture. The cream is then left to culture, allowing for a full buttery taste and slight tang to develop, creating the unique flavour of the cultured butter- this is the crème fraiche. The crème fraiche is then churned, which produces buttermilk and of course then the butter. Finally, the butter is kneaded and placed into hand pressed moulds, wrapped and labelled.

French inspired, Australian made with organic milk.

'Le Champ' is French for 'the field' and the milk in Le Champ cheeses comes from a small collective of organic dairy farmers on the fields of the Victorian Western Plains. Equally importantly is the skill of our French born cheese maker who's been working for more than a year getting Le Champ exactly how we wanted it. The result? A flavoursome, rich, organic, double cream white mould (Le Champ Blanc) and washed rind (Le Champ Lave) range that will make your taste buds joyous, brighten up your shelves and get tongues wagging.

Dependable and delicious cheese – it's Humble!

Our search is finally over. Over the past few years we've been looking for a great tasting, ready to eat, affordable cheese to delight all cheese eaters. We wanted something without bells and whistles, without fuss, just an everyday, super dependable, consistently great eating cheese. We also wanted something Australian, something with amazing texture, something that tasted the same all year around due to the great skill of the cheese maker. Our hope is that this is the cheese that gets picked up without needing to prove a point. Ticking boxes, but a little quirky. It's Humble. Enjoy and entertain away.

SERRATS

Arte en conserva

Traditional, respectful fishing and preservation for five generations.

Started by Catalan entrepreneur Jose Serrats in 1890, Conservas Serrats (known as 'Serrats') is up to its fifth generation of fish processing from the rich and delicate waters of the Bay of Biscay. Utilising French preservation techniques, Jose settled in Bermeo, Spain and processes seasonal catches from fishing charters off the Cantabrian coastline. With strong demand from Continental Europe the business introduced the hermetically sealed tin that anchovies are packed in today, in 1920. Serrats has a blue MSC (Marine Stewardship Council) license as a certified sustainable fishery. Try their range and experience the wonderful outcome of 5 generations of fish selection and processing from this incredible oceanic region.

OLSSON'S®

EST. 1948

The Olsson Family have been making solar sea salt since the 1948 and is the oldest family owned and operated sea salt maker in Australia.

To make it's sea salt, Olsson's use the method called "solar evaporation". Solar salt is produced by the action of sun and wind on seawater in large ponds. The seawater evaporates in successive ponds until the seawater is fully concentrated and the salt then crystallizes on the floor of the pond. It is then scooped up, washed in seawater, dried and packaged. That's it. There are no chemical processes involved in the manufacture of Olssons salts.

Just natural deliciousness.

SERGIO VALENTINO

Sergio Valentino was born in the front room of a terrace house in Canning Steet, Carlton, Victoria in 1938. He was part of a generation of children born locally to Italian immigrants who brought with them an understanding of ingredients that would change the narrative of Australian food and eating. We've curated a selection of Italian pasta that are a special thanks to the many Sergio Valentino's out there whose courage, passion and persistence have paved the way for us to follow. The stain glass in each pasta packet type tells a different part of the many influences in the Sergio Valentino story.

Made in Liguria with only 100% Italian certified durum wheat semolina, milled in Tuscany, and spring water sourced from the Antola National Park, our Sergio Valentino pasta is a reflection of amazing produce done simply well. Bronze extruded to create a rough, porous surface, the pasta then undertakes a low, natural drying process that maintains the organoleptic and nutritional properties of the prime ingredients

Chunky Dave's Peanut Butter is handmade in Sydney Australia. He only uses peanuts grown, processed and roasted in Kingaroy, Queensland and makes each batch one jar at a time.

The peanuts are roasted, salted, and ground to perfection.

Then he bottles and labels each jar.

Dave makes three types of Peanut Butter - Chunky, Smooth + Chilli. He doesn't use any preservatives or other mysterious ingredients, so it's a good idea to store the jar in the fridge once it's been opened.

It will keep for a few months... if it lasts that long.

100% gluten free, no animal products, preservatives, colours, emulsifiers, stabilisers, or sugar.

MOUNT WARNING

MINERAL WATER

Filtered by nature in the mountains beyond the beach is where you'll find the pristine source. Bundjalung country is renowned for the imposing silhouette of Mount Warning; an ancient volcano overlooking the stunning coastline and beaches of Byron Bay, and the first place to see the sunrise on mainland Australia. In this setting, hundreds of feet below the rainforest, lies the Mount Warning Mineral Water source – a vast confined aquifer that has remained to this day, pure and protected. The sparkling water is gently effervescent, whilst our perfectly still water is naturally alkaline.
